GRAND JURY BRINGS IN 15 TRUE BILLS

SIX BILLS FOR INTOXICATING LIQUOR, 3 FOR GAMING

COUNTY FARM IS O. K.

Institution is Well Managed and Buildings and Premises Are in A Clean Condition

The grand jury reported to circuit court this morning that they had voted fifteen true bills or indictments. It is understood that one of these bills is for concealed weapon, six for transporting and selling of intoxicating liquor, and three for gambling. Some of the bills, it is understood, include several counts against the same parties.

The grand jury in their report on the county poor farm says they find the buildings and premises surrounding in a clean condition, the live stock is in splendid condition, the farm implements well housed and the farm well managed. The only complaint made about the county farm was in the faulty construction of the building in not permitting sufficient sunlight in the dining room.

Their report follows:

To the Honorable Circuit Court of Nodaway County, Missouri:

We, the grand jury, duly empanelled and sworn according to law, and pursuant to the instructions of this honorable court, beg leave to report that we have made an examination of the County Farm and find the buildings and premises surrounding in a clean condition. The present superintendent in our judgment, is performing his duties in a good workmanlike manner and is keeping the buildings and farm in good condition.

The rooms are clean, the bedding is clean and free from vermin and insects of any kind and the inmates, in our udgment, are being well cared for. Judging from the report of the last grand jury, it is our judgment that there has been a substantial change in conditions at the County Farm and we have no complaint to make, except in the faulty construction of the building in not permitting sufficient sunlight in the dining rooms.

In other respects we find it in good condition. The live stock on the farm is in splendid condition. The farm implements are well housed. In our opinion the farm is well managed. We recommend the county court for the substantial improvements made in the past year.

The grand jury has been in session since Monday and examined seventy-two witnesses from all over the county.

FUNERAL FOR MRS T. L. ROBINSON WELL ATTENDED

Maryville Chapter D. A. R. Attends The Services in a Body—Burial In Oak Hill

A large number of relatives and friends attended the funeral services this afternoon for Mrs. Theodore L. Robinson, which were held at 2:30 o'clock at the family residence, 625 West Third Street, her home for the last half-century. The services were conducted by the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Christian Church, of which Mrs. Robinson had been a member since young womanhood. The Maryville Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which organization Mrs. Robinson was the oldest member, attended the services in a body. The Rev. and Mrs. Snodgrass sang her favorite hymns, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Rock of Ages."

The Nodaway Valley Bank remained closed all day and the Farmers Trust Company, First National Bank Gilliam-Jackson Loan and Trust Co., and the Real Estate Bank were closed during the hour of the funeral.

Interment was in the family lot in Oak Hill cemetery where Mr. Robinson and four children are buried. The pall bearers were Joseph Jackson, George B. Baker, Arch Frank, John D. Richey, Dr. Will Wallis, Jr., and M. A. Peery.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mrs. Kate Ardery of St. Joseph, and Mrs. George A. Everest and Miss Caila Varner of St. Joseph, the latter two arriving in Maryville this ncon.

L. F. Mullarkey, the writer and producer of the play, who will direct the rehearsals, was very much surprised at seeing such good talent coming from a city like Maryville and made the assertion that with such talent there is no reason why this show should not exceed any other home talent show that has ever been produced here.

KELLEMS ATTACKS DARWINIAN THEORY

EVANGELIST DECLARES IT IS UNPROVED.

A CHALLENGE TO DEBATE

Will Meet Believer in Evolution in Public Discussion—"Man God's Greatest Creature."

The greatest creature God ever created is man, declared Dr. D. C. Kellems in his sermon on that subject at the revival services at the First Christian church last night. He bitterly attacked the Darwinian theory of evolution and issued a challenge to any scientist or believer in the theory to debate it before any audience.

The evangelist is a firm believer in the Scriptural teaching that God created man according to his own image, and that he is not the result of process of evolution from the lower forms of life. The Darwinian theory of evolution was bitterly attacked, the evangelist declared that the theory had never gotten beyond the stage of an "unproved theory."

He said in part: "Some people, especially in college, get the idea that they are not scholarly unless they believe in Darwinian evolution. But the greatest scholars of the age are those who do not believe it and many who formerly professed faith in it have given it up.

"The main reason for faith in this theory of evolution is to do away with the miracle of creation by the Almighty. Yet in the proving of this theory you have got to account for a thousand miracles, for every time one species evolves into another a miracle is performed. I am one who believes that you have got to give up the Bible or believe in the creation of man as recorded therein.

"Faith in God's Holy Word will not permit any sympathy for this unproven theory of Darwinian evolution. I believe the old Bible that it is a book from God and I am here in this meeting to defend it with all my might. The time is coming when the American citizen will rise up and forbid the Bible being attacked in our schools and colleges without some provision for its defense. If by the statutes we are not able to defend the Bible in our schools then by the same statutes no one should be able to attack it.

"If yo uhave got any of these evolutionist ideas in this community, fellows who are aching for a discussion of this theme, trot them out and I will meet any man this side of Hell in a discussion upon this theme. The trouble with a lot of you college fellows is you are not willing to meet men of your size. You impose your rationalistic teachings upon the youth of our land who are not able to defend the Bible and finally you make them believe it. Show a little courage and give a public demonstration of your supreme intelligence upon these points by meeting a man who has been in college twenty-six years as a teacher and who has studied every phase of this question.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY STARTLES EXPERTS

JESSE MICHAELSON SUGGESTS WAY TO TRISECT ANGLE.

AN AGE--OLD PROBLEN

Will Be Famous if Method Is Proved —May Get $40,000 Nobel Prize.

After two thousand years in which the world's scholars have declared the problem impossible of solution, has a Maryville High School boy stumbled upon a method of trisecting an angle with compass and straight edge?

This is the question that is agitating the mathematics departments of the High School and the State Teachers College today. The boy who may be destined to become famous is Jesse Michaelson, the 16-yearold son of Mr. and Mrs. Herber Michaelson, who live northwest of Maryville.

For centuries, mathematical wizards have striven futilely to find a way to divide an angle into three equal parts by the use of circle and straight line, but it has finally been acepted as an axiom that the feat is impossible of accomplishment. Far back in the obscurity of time, Nichomedes invented a curve, called the chonchoid, with which angles may be trisected, but scientists join in a chorus of protests whenever it is even suggested that the three equal divisions may be made by the use of the simple compass and ruler.

Young Michaelson, who is an E student in mathematics at the High School was at work in mechanical drawing when he discovered his solution, quite by accident, he admits. It was perhaps suggested to him by his reading in the Democrat-Forum that a United States army captain had recently worked out a rather involved and intricate method of trisection which he offered as a solution of the age-old problem.

The boy's method, proven or unproven, is simplicity itself. It is explained by Dean George H. Colbert, head of the department of the State Teachers College, as follows:

"Using the vertext of the angle as the center, he draws an arc of any radius, cutting the two sides of the angle. He places the compass at the points where these two arcs cut the sides of the angle and draws two more arcs, cutting the sides of the triangle in two more places and intersecting each other at a point in the center of the angle. Thus far this is the approved method of bisecting an angle.

"He then places the compass at the new points of intersection with the sides of the triangle and with the central intersection and draws the three arcs. They will intersect at two points within the angle. He then draws straight lines through these intersections to the vertex of the angle and declares the trisection complete."

Mr. Colbert has not had time to prove or disprove the method, he said this morning.

"It looks like it might be all right, but it would have to be thoroughly proved, and history is against him," he said. "The whole past history of mathematics says it is imposible with circle and straight line, which he tries to use. I haven't had time to test it out. By one superficial test, it checked pretty well, but by another not so well.

"With a small angle, it looks all right, but with a larger angle and longer lines, I doubt whether it would work out. From study of analytic geometry, I don't see how it could be true.

"If proved he is famous in history."

That young Michaelson might be in line for the annual Nobel prize in mathematics if his solution is proved true was a suggestion this morning. The prize carries with it a cash reward of $40,000.

FORD OVERTURNS FURNITURE TRUCK IN CRASH TODAY

The former was a Ford sedan driven by Mrs. F. W. Crow and coming south on Mulberry street. The furniture truck was one owned by the Price Furniture Co., and was coming east on Third street. Mrs. Crow was driving slowly but was unable to stop her car in time to avoid striking the truck as it passed in front of her. The smaller car, a pigmy beside the truck, hit it in such a way that the truck was overturned and thrown diagonally across the street intersection. Mrs. Crow's car remained proudly standing, the only damage being a broken wheel. The damage to the truck was greater.

Me, Too

There are too many "Me too's" in the world.

So many of us don't go to the trouble to think things out for ourselves. We hear someone else give his opinion on some subject. What he says sounds as if it were the product of much thought. It sounds intellectual—and we say "Me too."

When the scientists of the 15th Century said "We think the world is flat" Columbus didn't say, "Me too."

When the world smiled at the project of an Atlantic cable and said, "We are certain it is impossible" Cyrus Field did not say, "Me too." He went ahead and laid the cable.

When the French and English army leaders, learned scientists of war, said "Train for trench warfare. We know that open warfare was not overawed by the foreign military specialists. He did not say "Me too," but followed his own convictions and trained the American soldiers for open warfare. His method broke the greatest organized military power ever known.

Don't be afraid to say "Me too," if you really agree—but don't be a "Me too," because it is easier than to think for yourself, or because you haven't the initiative to express your own convictions. The pioneer trials that have become far flung highways are paved with originality, with rugged perseverance against great odds and with the courage of convictions—not with "Me too's."—Coulmbia Missourian.

MAKING EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS

The best centennial news is that Missouri is making progress in education. Of course, there is room for progress. The census of last year shows that there are 83,403 illiterate persons 10 years of age and over in the population of the state. Of these 43,031, over one half, were native whites, the remainder being foreign, colored and mixed.

This is a heavy load for a state to carry. It is a handicap in voting, industry and trade. In taking account of illiteracy we must add to those who are wholly ignorant of letters, the great number who have little knowledge—those who are in semi-darkness, whose schooling has been inadequate to fit them for the best work in life and for intelligent action on public questions and private problems.

There is, however, a light shining in the darkness. The census shows that the percentage of illiteracy has fallen since the 1910 census from 4.3 to 3 per cent. In St. Louis the percentage has fallen from 3.7 to 2.7. It is rapidly becoming negligible in the city, where there are good schools. The gain is emphasized by the report that 58 counties of the state have a net increase in their school revenues of $1,509,662.

Fortunately the people of Missouri have awakened to the importance of good schools. Illiteracy is the product of insufficient schools, incompetent teachers and unfit schoolhouses. Lack of school revenues and of intelligent school boards is the cause of inadequate school equipment. The raising of tax assessments to true values helps. But there must be organized effort to meet the school requirements of the state. Doubtless there are faults in the county unit legislation adopted by the General Assembly, but it was a step in the right direction. The people should support the effort to make progress in public school education. Faults can be corrected and the system perfected in time. The centennial should stimulate fresh resolve to put Missouri in the front rank of states in the matter of education. Every dollar spent in good schools and competent teachers is a profitable investment.—Post Dispatch.

Mr. Mondel, republican floor leader in the lower house of Congress, in trying to explain the situation to some of his colleagues, has hit upon a very happy phrase and it is very much to the point. He says the people want "a lifting and not a shifting of taxes." When the majority of Congress gets to understand that maybe it will pass some more satisfactory laws.

The Nebraska swindle in which gullible buyers have been defrauded out of money estimated as high as a billion dollars by the sale of fraudulent stocks, reveals also a practice recently common of paying preposterous salaries to ornamental officers. This practice is indulged to an extent in legitimate industries and cannot be condemned too severely. This is but a way of defrauding not only the public but the smaller shareholders as well.

A Maryville drug store clerk says you can always tell when autumn comes around and the boys begin to congregate and desert the street corners by the increased demand for playing cards.

Louise, the stenographer, says the only time she is willing to admit a man's superiority is when it comes to figuring out a railroad time table.

There apparently is more than one good reason for starting the fire in the furnace these chilling October nights. Maryville home brewers inform us the master yeast will not work and the suds will not foam until the chill is driven from the atmosphere.

One grocer told us the other day he was between two fires on the question of handling a well known grain extract which comes in cans. He does not like to put it on the shelf because dry patrons might get aroused but he likes to handle it because of the steady demand from some good customers.

Fred Smith says he knows some men have the reputation of being brave because they generally are too scared to run.

Louise, the stenographer, says she read the other day that some Chicago educator wants fairy tales put under the ban and wonders if she expects to include marriage vows in that class.

This is the season of the year when vacant lot sports conflict. The other evening as we were driving out in the Ford we saw a kids' base ball game, a horseshoe pitching contest and football practice all going on at the same time.

"When a fellow starts telling you you are too smart to be caught for a sucker, look out for that man is going to try a new bait," said a Maryville man to us the other day after he had bought some wild cat oil stock.

An old fellow from Hopkins was in the office the other day giving us an oration about the virtues of his home town. "It must be a fine place," we remarked, "no doubt it is very healthy over there." "Healthy do you say," he retorted "Why when I first came there I could not walk." "Really" we said, "Yes, I was born there."

Uncle Abner says if fewer people wanted to go to work by a slow clock and quit by a fast one, normalcy would not be delayed so long.

The old fashioned mother who used to blush on many occasions lives anew in the daughter who has to run up stairs and get something to blush with.

Just admit you can't and you will have plenty of others to agree with you.

Burt Rowley says he has observed that opportunity does a whole lot that native ability gets credit for.

WILL MAKE N FILM FOR COUNTY

FARMS WILL BE SHOWN IN NEXT C. OF C. REEL.

REQUESTED BY FARMERS

At the request of several farmers in the county, the Maryville Chamber of Commerce has begun on a new film of moving pictures to be devoted almost entirely to the county's agricultural activities. The pictures will be used both in and outside the county to advertise Nodaway's "food factories" and to advance the interests of the county and the farmers who contribute to the cost of the film.

Any farmer may have pictures taken of his fields, his stock or any other part of his farm of which he is proud. The cost of the film is 50 cents a foot, and it is planned to take about fifty feet for each farmer who asks to be included in the film.

For every foot that is subscribed by farmers, the Chamber of Commerce will finance another foot. This section of the film will be devoted to the more general farm activities in the county.

Yesterday Secretary George A Pickens and Photographer Ralph Marcell visited the farm of Elmer Fraser, where movies were taken showing the threshing of alfalfa seed. The pictures also show some of his fine goats.

NEGROES IN MISSOURI INCREASE IN NUMBER

State's Population Is Now 4.8 Per Cent Negro—One-Fifth Foreign Born

Washington, Oct. 7.—The population of the state of Missouri as recently announced by the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, is 94.7 per cent white and 5.2 per cent Negro. In 1910 the percentage Negro was 4.8.

The Negro population, which was 157,452 in 1910, increased to 178,241 in 1920, an increase of 13.2 per cent. The white population in the same period increased from 3,134,932 to 3,225,044 or 2.9 per cent.

A little over one-fifth (21.3 per cent) of the white population of the state is of foreign birth or foreign parentage, there being 186,026 foreign-born whites, 300,064 native whites who had foreign born parents, and 202,018 who had one foreign born parent, the other being native. The rest of the white population, numbering 2,536,936, are native Americans born of native American parents. They constitute a little over three-fourths (78.7 per cent) of the total white population and a little less than three-fourths (74.5 per cent) of the total population of the state.

In addition to the whites and the Negroes the total population includes 171 Indians, 412 Chinese, 135 Japanese, 33 Filipinos, 15 Hindus and 4 Koreans.

In most counties of the state the percentage of Negroes has decreased and in 90 of the 115 counties there was also a decrease in the number of Negroes.

The percentage of Negroes in the total population of Nodaway county was 0.5 per cent for 1920 and the same for 1910.

Illiteracy.

According to the census there were 83,403 illiterate persons ten years of age and over in the state of Missouri, "illiterate" meaning, unable to write. Of this number 43,031 are native whites of native parentage, 4,035 are of foreign or mixed parentage, and 17,669 are of foreign birth. The number if illiterate Negroes is 18,528. In the total population ten years of age and over the percentage of illiteracy is 3.0, which, it is gratifying to note, shows a diminution since 1910, when it was 4.3. In the case of the Negroes, the percentage declined from 17.4 to 12.1, and in the case of the native white of native parentage from 3.4 to 2.2.

There is more illiteracy in the rural districts of the state than in the cities, the percentages being 3.5 for the rural population and 2.6 for the urban. For the native white population of native parentage the urban percentage of illiteracy is 0.8 while the rural is 3.0. In the case of the Negro population the percentage is 9.6 in the urban population as against 20.6 in the rural.

By counties the percentage of illiteracy ranges from 12.2 in Pemiscot county to 1.0 in DeKalb and Shelby counties.

School Attendance in State.

According to the census there are 471,725 children 7 to 13 years of age in the state of Missouri and of this number 440,394 or 93.4 per cent were reported as attending school. In 1910 the percentage attending school was 90.1, thus indicating an improvement as regards school attendance between 1910 and 1920. Of the children 14 and 15 years of age in 1920, 82.1 per cent were attending school and of those 16 and 17 years of age 43.9 per cent.

Of the white children 7 to 13 years of age 90.5 per cent were attending school in 1910 and 93.6 per cent in 1920. For colored children of the same age the percentage in the same interval increased from 80.4 to 86.8.

The percentage of children attending schools was slightly more in the cities than in the country districts, the percentage for children in the urban population 7 to 13 years of age being 94.6 while in the rural population it was 92.6. "Urban" according to the census definition includes all towns or cities and other incorporated places of 2,500 population or more.

Road Building Under Way

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 7—Road building in Missouri is now well under way. Twelve million dollars worth of roads are under contract, according to E. J. McCaustland, dean of the School of Engineering of the University. The materials for these roads are being tested at the Engineering Experiment Station of the University for the state highway department. Five men are employed in the labratory and five are working in the field. The men working in the labratory are under the direction of Prof. H. A. LaRue and Guy N. Barr. Samples from eighty different projects are under construction. These projects are fairly well distributed over the entire state, except the Northeast portion.

OFFICE BOY RISS TO GENERAL MANAGER'S POST

'Tommy' Graham Forges Ahead In Forty Years of Steady Application

San Francisco, Oct. 6—Forty-three years ago a pudgy faced lad answering to the name of Tommy entered the employ of the old North Pacific Coast Railroad Company as an office boy.

The other day the resignation of John J. Rosseter as vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, the oldest and largest American line on the Pacific, left a gap that shipping men prophesied would be hard to fill.

But it was not vacant long. Still known as Tommy to his intimates Thomas A. Graham was named for the position. He left the Southern Pacific Railroad after forty years' service during which he rose from office boy to assistant freight traffic manager. During the forty years he forged steadily ahead position by position and earned a reputation as being one of the leading traffic executives of the country.

"Application" is his formula for success.

"The opportunity is open to the man who will apply himself in the railroad field," he declared when asked how he found his way to the top "And the opportunity is bigger to-day than it ever was before."

Tommy Graham, say his associates was never content with knowing his own job. He always knew it thoroughly and then reached out and included a first hand knowledge of the job above him. And he just naturally fitted in when changes came Throughout his forty-three years railway service he never lost a day's pay nor has he been seriously ill at any time.

R. C. Lamke of Moberly, claim agent for the Wabash Railroad, is in Maryville today. He will referee the State Teachers College-Graceland game this afternoon.

An Old "49-er," George W. Long, Is Visiting Nephew, James C. Pistole

Of living aunts and uncles, James C. Pistole, the Hopkins banker, has none of the first named and but one uncle, George W. Long, who is now visiting him. If he lives six months, and he is counting on living twice this many years; Mr. Long will be ninety years of age and made the trip alone from Pamona, California, where he has been visiting a daughter, arriving in Hopkins last Saturday. He is quite spry for a man of his advance years and his mind is remarkably bright and clear.

He has led an outdoor life most of his years, heading an ox train out of St. Joseph for California during the gold days of "49" returning three years later with enough gold to buy a good farm near Graham.

He also owned farms near Barnard, Old Xenia and in other parts of Nodaway county, his wife and several children being buried at Graham. At one time his herd of Shorthort cattle was counted the best in all of North west Missouri.

But the plains were always fascinating to him and he made frequent overland trips to the coast. In 1860 he and Uncle Stephen Pistole went to Montana together and the youngest man often told of what a wonderful marksman Uncle George was it being nothing uncommon for him to bring down a deer with an old navy revolver at a distance of a hundred yards.

The day Mr. Long arrived in Hopkins was chilly, the night being real frosty, so he was asked if he would like to sleep between blankets. "I can," he replied, but I would rather have sheets as the blankets make my feet too hot," showing that his early outdoor days still serve him After his visit here and at Maryville and Graham, Mr. Long will go to Kansas City to spend the winter with a daughter.—Hopkns Journal.

made up of singing evangelists. The sermon subject tonight will be "All the Counsel of God."

Prayer meetings will be held today which will be the last for this week. There will be services on Saturday night this week and great provisions are being made for the first invitations at the services Sunday.

Dr. Kellems preached Wednesday night on "Spiritual Suicide," giving the cares of the world, its riches and its pleasantries as the greatest causes of suicide. His sermon, in part, was as follows:

"Many people allow a few cares of the world to keep them from services many say the cares of a large family or certain business cares make it impossible for them to attend the Revival or the cottage prayer meetings or contribute anything very much to the success of the meeting."

In answer to the excuse offered by certain Church members, Dr. Kellems referred to the incident in the life of Christ of his being entertained in the home of Mary and Martha, when Martha complained of the Master that he was indifferent to the cares of the home and was keeping Mary from shouldering her share of the home duties in preparing the meal, but in reply to Martha, Jesus defends Mary by saying that "she has chosen the better part."

Dr. Kellems added, "Here is a fine comparison in the mind of the Master as to the relative importance of making a big spread to entertain somebody in the home or sitting at the feet of Jesus to learn of Him. You cannot afford to allow the cares of this world to choke on and cause your spiritual death.

"Others are choked by the deceitfulness of riches. I do not want you to believe for a moment that a man is a sinner because he is rich, for honest accumulation of money is not sin and no where is such condemned in the Bible. It is the trusting in riches that makes it sinful and when any man trusts in his money he becomes an idolator and no idolator can enter the Kingdom.

"In Jesus' conversation with a rich young man ruler he makes it clear that it is not the wealth of the young man that makes the trouble but the fact that he trusted in his riches as he was not willing to obey the Master's command in selling what he had and giving part of it to the poor.

"The other class mentioned by the Master in the Parable of the Sower is the class who allow the pleasures of this life to choke the Word out of their hearts. Some preachers have said that you must give up everything that you love and come into the Church. This is wrong and not required by the Master at all. Only the things that are sinful must men give up to become a Christian. Everything that is clean and pure can be retained by you and you will enjoy it much more as a Christian than as a sinner. You cannot afford to let those sinful pleasures which will mean your Spiritual death and destruction to keep you out of the Kingdom."

WEIGHTY REASONS FOR JOINING THIS CLUB

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 7—The Phi Alpha Tau Club, organized recently at the University of Missouri, promises to be one of the "weightiest" organizations in the University. In fact its membership includes some of the "biggest" men in the school.

Although the club boasts of only six charter members, it represents a combined avoirdupois of 1,485 pounds or an average of 247½ pounds, per man. Weight is the primary factor in the selection of its membership, and a minimum of 200 pounds has been set as one requirement for eligibility. The guest" man in the club tips the scales the individual weights of any of the number, but, according to information more or less reliable, the "biggest" man in the culb tips the scales at more than 300 pounds, and the smallest weighs 225 pounds.

His Address

A man was invited to speak at a local gathering and being nobody in particular, was placed last on the list of speakers. The audience was tired out by the time the chairman rose and announced, "Mr. Brown will now give us his address."

"My address," said Mr. Brown, rising, "is 55 Rushton avenue. I wish you all good night."

"SWEETEST DAY" OF YEAR TO BE OCT. 8

Chicago, Oct. 7—There is to be a new national holiday—Candy Day. The National Confectioners' Association has selected October 8 to be "the sweetest day of the year."

All other holidays in the calendar, say the confectioners, have a political, sentimental or religious background. Candy Day is for everybody, without respect to age, religion, race or politics. It is to be a day of happiness and good cheer.

It is proposed to set it apart as the one great day on which no member of the family shall be forgotten. Everybody on that day is expected to receive a gift of candy from somebody. Candy, it is pointed out, is the universal gift. Everybody has a sweet tooth. Everybody likes candy. No danger of manking anybody angry with a gift of candy.

M. U. WOMEN STUDENTS NOW HAVE A WOMAN DOCTOR

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 7—For the first time since the establishment of the Student Health Service, University of Missouri women students have a woman doctor with whom they may consult and who helps them solve their health problems. Dr. Edith H. Matzke, who is now connected with the Student Health Service, under the direction of Dr. Guy L. Noyes at the Parker Memorial Hospital of the University, has come to the University this year to look after the health of the University women, now almost 1,600 in number.

Dr. Matzke is a doctor of public health, besides being an M. D. and is probably the only woman in the state of Missouri to hold such a degree. She comes here as a professor in the department of clinical medicine and surgery. Besides being a part of the health service, which takes care of the students individually, she is a member of the Health Committee, which looks after the health of the University Community as a whole.

Chinese Medicine Had Kick

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 7,—"It's got something in it resembling an awful kick," exclaimed Sergeant Howard Bennett, "but it isn't alcohol."

"Tastes funny," commented Corporal James W. Baker.

These members of the local police liquor and vice squad were sampling a specially-prepared Chinese "punch" during a raid on Tom Toy's tea store, No. 115 East Spring street.

"That's a Chinese medicine to cure rheumatism. It's not made for Americans," was the explanation volunteered by Toy.

Toy insisted the "whiskey" contained lizards, a severed rattlesnake and two ants.

Although he was not slated as an alleged violator of the dry laws, Toy was charged with illegally possessing opium found in his place along with lamps and opium pipes.

ASKS MARYVILLE TO HELP IN RELIEVING UNEMPOLYMENT

Local Emergency Committees Are Recommended at Conference in Washington

Support for the program advanced by the National Conference on Unemployment looking to relief of idle workers was asked of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce today by Joseph Defrees, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and a number of the Conference.

Mr. Defrees especially urged that local business men get behind the plan proposed by the Conference for the mayors to organize local Emergency Committees in their communities. He asked them to offer the mayors immediate assistance in order that the machinery of organization shall be speeded up on a national basis. Every town, said Mr. Defrees, has a responsibility to the nation to organize to meet this question immediately and the nation can only bring its help to bear when the cities and the states are organized so as to make their help effective.

"Business," said Mr. Defrees, "has a very great responsibility in the situation. It furnishes employment. Business men in the communities should take the lead in cooperating with the mayors in creation of the Emergency Committees and in working out constructive community programs for relieving unemployment in their communities.

"The situation cannot be met without proper organization. It is primarily a community problem. The local business man, though his business organization and individually, should make every effort to meet the situation in his city.

HIGH SCHOOL ELEVEN LEAVES FOR CHILLICOTHE

Supt. L. E. Ziegler left this morning for Chillicothe with fifteen husky girdiron stars who will do battle this afternoon with the Chillicothe High School eleven. Several rooters accompanied the team.

The probable line-up for the game will include Gerald Hall at center, Theo Kissinger and Harold Eaton, guards; Paul Blagg and Oren Masters, tackles; Homer Ogden and Harry Carstens, ends; Raymond Barry, quarterback; Ernest Ellis and Hal England, halfbacks; Harold O'Banion, fullback. The other men in the squad were Vodre Willoughby and Donald Davenport, backfield men; Herschel Ledgerwood, tackle; and Lorance Landfather, end.

The team will be joined at Darlington by Dr. K. R. Malotte. William McDougal and Anthony Gex went to Stanberry last night and will make the trip from there by automobile. Paul Milroy, Floyd Cook, Isaac Miller, and Floyd Froman, president of the High School Athletic Association made the trip on the train.

The result of the game will be received at the Democrat-Forum office.

One of the best assemblies given at the high school so far this year was given this morning to send the football boys away to Chillicothe. The assembly hall was a continuous scene of pep all during the program.

The program was given by several girls who, with their hair down their backs and dressed in aprons, gave some new yells and songs. The following girls took part: Charlene Pixler, Catherine Remus, Katherine Wallace, Mary Holt, Olive Ewing, Marie Chandler, Alyce Allen, Nellie Hall, Esther Wells, Mayme Grems, Margaret Louise Hosmer, Louise Perry, Glee Hukill and Hazel Pugh.

Captain Carstens assured the students that the team was "rearin' to go" and was going to fight from the first whistle until the end of the game.

THE HEART OF MARYLAND TO BE SHOWN AT ELECTRIC

"The Heart of Maryland," an elaborate film version of the famous stage play of the same name by David Belasco, will be shown at the Electric theater next Monday and Tuesday.

The screen version, on account of the greater scope of the film field will surpass the stage version in many respects and equal it in all others. Catherine Calvert, the Vitagraph star, heads an all-star cast in the role of Maryland Calvert.

The picture has been nearly six months in the making. It has the advantage over the stage production of showing thrilling scenes in the great struggle between the North and the South that only could be reproduced on the screen. The entire company went south in order to get the proper scenery and "atmosphere" for backgrounds and was fortunate enough to enlist the sympathy and therefore the help of real southerners.

The picture has been made on a tremendous scale, and no expense or time was spared to make the locale and costumes exactly as they were during the Civil War, even to the extent of restoring dilapidated buildings and getting old Confederate uniforms and costumes out of cedar chests.

HAS BEEN MAIL CARRIER FOR TWENTY—ONE YEARS

People in Burlington Junction and on Rural Route No. 1 have grown so accustomed to seeing Ben Jones leave the office every week day morning with the mail that perhaps very few of them think of just how long he has been acting in the capacity of carrier, or of how much mail he has handled during his term of service.

On October 1, last Saturday, Mr. Jones entered upon his twenty-first year as carrier on Route 1. On October 1, 1901, Uncle Sam entered upon his pay roll the name of Benjamin Alpheus Jones—and it has been there ever since. Mr. Jones says that when he began his work as carrier he thought he would continue in that capacity until spring, and would then go back to the farm. But there must have been a fascination in the work for him, as, in his own words, he has just stayed with it.

Mr. Jones began work at the rate of $50 per month, but his monthly pay has gradually grown until at the present it is $147.50. He has only lost four days as the result of sickness, during the twenty years. The first three years he carried the mail without a single holiday, but now Uncle Sam has grown more considerate, and mail carriers are allowed six holidays each year and a fifteen day vacation on full pay.

Mr. Jones' route is twenty-six miles in length, and figuring 313 working days to the year he actually travels on his route each twelve months over 8,000 miles. During the twenty years this would reach a grand total of 160,00 miles—a distance equal to six times around the world, and then a few thousand miles to spare.

Just as interesting is an estimate of the amount of mail Mr. Jones has handled during his term of service Some months he handles a total of 11,000 pieces of mail matter, but he estimates that his average during the twenty years he has been carrying mail has been 9,500 pieces each month. This would be a total of 114,000 pieces yearly, and a grand total of 2,280,000 pieces during the twenty year period.

He started making his route with a horse and buggy and continued to use that means until recently, but he now has a Ford car, and can make his route in a much shorter time. Another fact which might not occur to everyone is that there have been only three postmasters here since Mr. Jones began his work. The first was John Bryant, who held the office until succeeded by Chas. Ferguson. And the third incumbent is Sam A. Jones, who recently was appointed acting postmaster.

Incidently Mr. Jones will celebrate his fifty-sixth birthday tomorrow, but he is just as young as he was when he started carrying the mail twenty years ago.
